GLOBAL MENTORSHIP INITIATIVE

Session 1
Getting Ready for Your Mentorship

Your mentor and the GMI team are looking forward to your mentorship! We hope you take full advantage of this opportunity.

Your mentor will take you through the process of getting a great job and then how to distinguish yourself in your new job. We ask that you commit to the work required to benefit from this mentorship. Successful careers happen not because of talent. Those who succeed are usually the ones who put in the effort, set goals, and work to a plan.

It is your responsibility to ensure each session has been marked as complete by clicking "Mark as Complete" on the top right within each session folder. Once you click that button, it notifies GMI that you have completed the session and the next session folder will unlock for you to review.

You must mark off each session as you complete it or GMI will assume you are not meeting and will close your mentorship. GMI will be checking to see that all 10 sessions have been checked off before we can issue the Certificate of Achievement. The attached document shows how to mark a session as complete.

For your first meeting with your mentor, you should review the GMI Student Mentorship Guide found in Session 1 of the Student Resources Portal. For all other sessions, you will have training materials in the folder labeled for each session. Please review these materials before each session.

Your career is just beginning, and you are establishing a reputation, so it is important that you acquire the standing of someone who follows through on tasks in a timely fashion. If you agree to do something understand that it is a firm commitment, and make sure you deliver on time and to a high standard.

Being an effective mentee is a learned skill that requires practice and patience. A successful mentee communicates clearly, is engaged, prepared, and finishes tasks ahead of schedule.

If your mentor hasn't already contacted you, you are encouraged to email them to begin the mentorship. This will show that you are ready and excited to begin the GMI Mentorship!
